SELLING AT ELEVEN CENTS Although cotton has reached 11 cents on a number of the southern markets, very little of the staple has been offered, it is said. Farmers are counting on 12 cents in many sections, and some even believe that the price will go as high as 15 cents.

Young People Entertained. With forty-five young people present, the reception at the home of Mrs. V. D. Brown last night for the First Methodist Barbecue and Philathea was one of the most enjoyable occasions of the week. Cream and cake were served, and the guests enjoyed music and games.

FALL MILLINERY

From present indications we are going to have one of those old fashioned millinery seasons. Large hats slightly rolled at the sides, satins with soft floppy brims and soft crowns, in a multitude of varieties seem to have taken the lead, while turbans and tricornes in shapes that just avoid freakishness are prominently featured.

As to trimmings, they are so numerous and varied that space limits a detailed account of them. Ribbon Beltings of all kinds, wide ribbons both plain and fancy are used in various ways. Beads of every color and shape, ornaments of worsted yarns or soutache, or appliques of same material on the brim or around the crowns are the new features that tend to make this season's hats look decidedly new.

Velvets, especially Lyons, Georgette Satins, are most in vogue. Quite a few panne velvets are worn by the elite.

Colors are Navy, Alsatian Green, Alsatian Blue (a dull shade) and Wine, while Black is as popular as ever.

Our display of Hats and all other millinery products is now ready for you and in order to give you prompt attention kindly see us before the rush comes on for your Fall Hat, Suit or Coat.

Yours Very Truly, W. T. SLEDGE.

BEFORE THE RECORDER Dock Holmes and Tom Smith, negroes, faced the recorder this afternoon on the charge of fighting. Chief Lentz said one of the men was foolish enough to use his hands, and it was expected that the other would claim that he did not have a stick. That is the only case scheduled for the matinee.

COMMISSION ON TRADE STILL DEADLOCKED

(Continued From Page One.) clinations by shipping to Germany, they found no reason for not doing so. Stockholm hotels are full of German agents who confess secretly that they are satisfied with the way business is going.

Since the figures are available any estimate of the quantity of supplies going to Germany is merely speculative, but it may safely be said that enough is going to Germany to be a material factor in her economic condition.

Work for Congress.

Washington Star. Work for congress is piling up. Take four questions, which alone will demand a good deal of attention: (1) The national defense, (2) votes for women, (3) prohibition and (4) additional revenue.

While sentiment for preparedness has been growing of late, resistance to the proposition has been taking an inventory of its resources. Mr. Bryan, it seems generally understood, will lead the opposition. Since leaving the cabinet he has been in consultation here and there with the pacifists. The Michigan millennialist, Henry Ford, has just consulted him. He will lay the course in both house and senate, though the second in command has not yet been named in either chamber.

The women asking the ballot for their sex have been busy since their defeat last winter, and claim to be much encouraged by the prospects for the coming winter. One of their leaders, Mrs. Mead McCormick, declares that over 200 votes in the new house are pledged to the cause. That insures at least a very lively contest.

The prohibitionists also have been strengthening their lines in the past six months. They lost in the recent Kentucky primaries, but scored heavily later in South Carolina. When congress meets they are coming up again smiling and confident. Captain Hobson will not appear as a member of the new house, but the cause will have his sympathy and probably the benefit of his advice. He stands at the head of those who challenge Henry Watterson's dictum that "no Democrat can be a prohibitionist."

The revenue problem can not be postponed. It is a condition, not a theory, that confronts both the administration and the country. Nearly enough money is coming in when more than ever is necessary. Starving the government is out of the question. It must be provided for according to the plain needs. How shall the additional revenue be raised? A tidy sum is necessary, and the president is expected to express his views to congress.

Washington during the winter, and maybe until the middle of spring, will be a truly live town, with something doing every minute. Well, why not? This is headquarters, and the lines are forming for the next quadrennial contest. Come one, come all! Accommodations are sufficient. A welcome is assured. The people's representatives always want to hear from the people, and when the message is definite, it is usually obeyed. The wigwagging as a rule is according to Simon's orders.

WELL FITTED SHOES ADD 50 PER CENT TO THEIR LIFE

There's a distinct advantage in buying your shoes here. Aside from getting beautiful, well-made footwear, more than usual attention is paid to fitting the shoes to feet. You cannot expect to get full life out of an improperly fitted shoe, much less any comfort. The range of sizes we carry in our stock makes this possible and the lasts over which Selz shoes are constructed make it of such certainty that we win many customers by our careful attention to fitting. We will fit you, or we won't sell you. That's our motto here. It's splendid protection for you, a money saver and productive of satisfaction that makes this store popular.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS OF LENOIR COLLEGE

scholarship bequest of (near) $6,000 in memory of his only daughter by the late Jacob Lipe of Landis, N. C., who was long a faithful member of the board of trustees—available in 1911. These amounts came in times of peculiar stress and need and were indeed veritable God-sends. May these noble examples inspire others to come to the aid of our college and the great cause of christian education.

III. Lenoir College Today and Tomorrow.
We predict the future by studying and interpreting the past. In the midst of the twenty-fifth year of our college, we review the past, take an inventory of the present and strive to attain an adequate vision of the greater future.

A landscape architect has laid out these grounds and indicated places for the much needed Moser Memorial Library. The next girls' dormitory, the conservatory of music, the gymnasium, the next boys' dormitory and the auditorium, and agricultural building. These will be needed as fast as they can be supplied.

Lenoir College is not just this splendid campus, these imposing buildings with their equipments, the trustees, the faculty, the annual student body of near 300, nor the more than $50,000 brought here yearly, nor the reputation and advantage brought to this community in matters social and educational—but rather is it the eternal principles, the Word of God, upon which it is founded, the noble constituency of God-fearing men and women which it represents, its more than 2,000 former students, its 200 alumni, its ministers, missionaries, lawyers, doctors, business men, farmers—all those who have here found a right vision of service. Lenoir College is a golden gateway of opportunity swung wide for them to enter in? Let God be thanked for the men, the blessings of the day and for the bright future that
